Narrative Explanation, if needed

I performed a random kennel inspection today, housing areas are clean and odor free at time of inspection with no apparent signs of illness or injury noted. Previous inspection noted rusting on the chain link kennel doors, owner has had all rusted areas fixed & brought to AWA Standard. At todays inspection I noted minor chipping of the sealant on the walls in the outside area of the enclosures of the 2nd building - chipping is minor, but will need to be addressed before this area worsens. Also I noted inadequate record keeping for medications given (0102-3) Medications are added to paperwork, but not initialed by staff when given - I advised to start initialing these records when medications are given.

I viewed no other inadequacies, all animals housed here appear happy, healthy and well cared for. Boarding kennel is well maintained.
