Narrative Explanation

Annual inspection today. ACO and acting shelter director Billy Lassiter in attendance.

As of last week, Chief Todd Taylor has resigned as the animal shelter director and head of animal control. Prior to his leave he had informed me that the floors that were in need of repair were completed. This has been confirmed at this time. The other concerns from the previous inspection have yet to be handled.

Due to the in limbo status of the staffing at this point, I find that these concerns, although needing to be addressed, are issues that can be rectified at a later date. ACO Lassiter will keep me informed on this staffing dilemma. Once these positions are filled we will return to and address all prior concerns.

All animals on the premises appear happy, healthy and injury free.

Paperwork remains in compliance.

I have no new concerns at this time.

The facility is, as always, clean, odor free and very well maintained.

I will be expecting a progress call from ACO Lassiter within the next few weeks and it is then that we will discuss the repainting/resealing of the primary enclosures.
