Narrative Explanation

Follow up inspection regarding heating issue done today. At last inspection the inside dog kennel area temperature was 41degrees. Dept. head ACO Pete Brock was working with County Manager David Bone and Head of Maintenance Justin Harrison to rectify this problem. Today I met with Justin and contractor Ed Holliday and was told that on 2/3/2014 Roberson Heating and Air were here with the following recommendations. Option #1 is to provide insulation to the ceiling in conjunction with covering the roof. Option #2 is to replace current heating unit and run duct work to each kennel. Option #1 will be advocated and implemented first. If not meeting the needs for heating requirements in an indoor space they will institute Option#2. The indoor temperature today is at 51degrees with an outside temperature to be a chilly 41degrees. While I am here the insulation for this project is delivered and contractor Ed Holliday is to begin with solution in the am. Justin and I spoke briefly as well about the need for repainting and resealing of the floors and indoor kennel space. This is to take place in the spring as weather permits. The new cat room area will be addressed soon and plans for this to be revealed to me for discussion and implementation, completion projection. Adoptable cats/kittens will continue to be placed in the care of the local vets office. All animals on premise appear happy, healthy and injury free. I applaud Martin County Animal Control and Shelter for their due diligence on timely solutions to all issues that arise.
