Narrative Explanation

Today, I performed an unannounced follow-up visit to the shelter's December 12, 2014 inspection. At that inspection I noted the following items:

0101} Medication logs needed to have correct name, strength, and dosage.

0204} K-9 Primary Enclosures were deemed not acceptable to surfaces impervious to moisture due to chipped and damaged epoxy.

*Re-distribute the gravel in the play/elimination yards

* Replace damaged water buckets (two seen with jagged edges)

* Discontinue the use of the pine shaving within primary enclosures .

Today's inspection has noted that all areas have been addressed.

0101} Medication logs are being completed to the NC Animal Welfare Act Standards.

0204} Epoxy has been added to the primary enclosures, however it is chipping already. Workers are due to come back on site and redo the work, and add two more coats to the surface

*Gravel has been re-distributed, so that no ground covering or soil was visible today.

* New water buckets are in use today

* No pine shavings are in use today.

Narrative Explanation

On February 3, 2015, I also visited the shelter due to an e-mail I received, concerning the lack of resting surfaces for cats, wood chips being used in primary enclosures and the euthanasia of a feral cat. The shelter has added shelves to the walls of the cat rooms for resting surfaces as well as using litter pans with blankets as beds; wood chips are not is use, and have not been in use since December. Euthanasia of the feral cat was resolved via educating the new director and staff of the Animal Welfare Code and penalties.

All previous Not Acceptable areas have been satisfied by the county, and the shelter is approved inspection today.

☐ check here if a euthanasia inspection form is attached
