

2014

To North Carolina Soil & Water Conservation Districts

OCTOBER is FLP Month!

The month of October has been designated North Carolina Food, Land & People Month.

Project Food, Land & People (FLP) is a 55 – lesson educational program for teachers in grades K-12 that is committed to helping people of all ages better understand the inter-relationships between agriculture, natural resources, and the people of the world.

The North Carolina Soil and Water Conservation Districts are committed to making FLP a success in all our schools with its motto "From the Mountains to the Sea with FLP".

We are asking each district to budget $100 or more for this event. Through Soil & Water Conservation Districts' generous contributions, the NC Food, Land & People program was able to offer the FLP Resources for Learning book of lessons at no cost at teachers' workshops during 2014.

Let's make 2014-2015 another great year for the FLP educational program.

Kind Regards,
