

Development of the North Carolina Food & Feed Industry Recognition Program

Members of North Carolina food and feed industries are invited to attend public listening sessions on the development of a North Carolina Food & Feed Industry Recognition Program to recognize food and animal feed manufacturers who demonstrate exceptional commitment to food safety.

The North Carolina Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services Food and Drug Protection Division and the North Carolina State University Food, Bioprocessing and Nutrition Sciences Department Extension Group will hold four sessions in May and June 2010 to hear recommendations that will help develop a new statewide program.

May 17, 2010 • 2-5 pm

NCDA Ballentine Laboratory, Blue Ridge Road

Raleigh NC

www.ncagr.gov/SPCAP/

May 20, 2010 • 2-5 pm

James Sprunt College, Williams Building, Room 100

Kenansville, NC

www.jamessprunt.edu/About_JSCC.html

June 8, 2010 • 2-5 pm

McDowell Technical Community College

Wm Harold Smith Building, Room 113

Asheville, NC

www.mcdowelltech.edu/directions.html

June 9, 2010 • 2-5 pm

David H. Murdock Research Institute, Training Room 4522

Kannapolis, NC

www.ncresearchcampus.net/about-ncrc/location-directions.aspx

Visit the NCDA&CS Web site, www.ncagr.gov/fooddrug/foodsafety, for more information. Comments may also be submitted to Dr. David Green, NCSU Department of Food, Bioprocessing and Nutrition Sciences, at 252-222-6304 or dpg@ncsu.edu.

NC STATE UNIVERSITY

NC State University
A&T State University
COOPERATIVE EXTENSION
Empowering People • Providing Solutions