Agritourism Directory

Welcome to North Carolina Agritourism country! This directory comes to you courtesy of the Agritourism Office in the Marketing Division of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and was updated in the spring of 2007. Many of the farms have been in business for years, and others are new this year.

Agritourism venues are farms, ranches, wineries or vineyards, and other farm-linked businesses that add value to the agricultural economy.

They offer activities that may include recreational, informational, or educational experiences based on the agricultural way of life.

Agritourism can range from paying admission to spend the day at the farm with the family to simply stopping by a farm to purchase or pick your own produce.

In February 2006, the North Carolina Agritourism Networking Association (ANA) was organized with an initial goal of having a printed directory. This directory is the second edition - a result of the Department's strong effort to support and promote North Carolina's agritourism farms.

There are many varieties of agritourism farms, from small pick-your-own operations that open only for a few weeks, to large agritourism farms that feature activities almost year-round. Some farms advise calling before planning a trip. Most of the farms have their own websites for additional information.

Being listed in the directory does not imply endorsement by NCDA&CS.

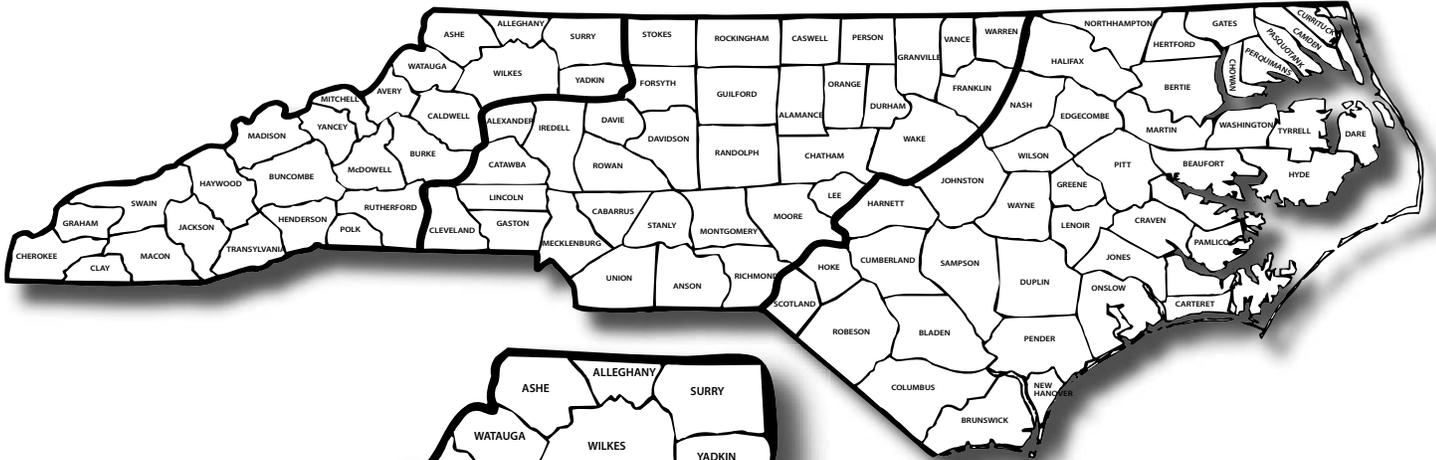

A publication of the NC Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services' Division of Marketing.
