LXXXVIX - No. 1

January 2014

Raleigh, N.C.

Ag Forum set for Feb. 6

The N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services' annual Ag Development Forum will be held Feb. 6 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Holshouser Building at the State Fairgrounds in Raleigh.

The event features Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler's annual State of Agriculture address along with a panel discussion on Inter-agency Cooperation for N.C. Agribusiness Development including representatives from the N.C. Department of Commerce, the N.C. Department of Environment and Natural Resources, the N.C. Department of Transportation and the Office of the Governor.

From 1:30-3:30 p.m. there will be a special Food and Drug Administration listening session on proposed rules for Current Good Manufacturing Practice and Hazard Analysis and Risk-Based Preventive Controls for Food for Animals. Dr. Dan McChesney, director of the Office of Surveillance and Compliance Center for Veterinary Medicine, will be the featured speaker.

The event, sponsored by John Deere, is open to the public. Lunch will be provided. There is no cost to attend, but attendees are asked to register at www.ncagr.gov/agforum to ensure an accurate count for lunch. For more information, contact Chrissy Waggett at 919-707-3008.

NCDA&CS offers price-risk management workshops

The N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services will host eight free price-risk management workshops across the state to help farmers better understand the futures market and other trading options to sell their commodities.

The series, "Managing Price Volatility/Identifying Macro Indicators," features workshops conducted by NCDA&CS staff between Jan. 8 and March 14.

Topics to be covered include an introduction to grain hedging, basis trading, cost of carry, cotton futures, options trading on futures, using options to manage financial risks, and trading strategies to manage exposure to fluctuations in energy costs.

"I encourage farmers to attend these workshops because the information can help farmers improve their bottom line, which is especially critical in a complex and global economy," said Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler.

Workshops will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. except where noted. Lunch will be on your own. Registration is not required.

For more, contact Nick Lassiter, NCDA&CS marketing specialist, at 919-707-3129.

NCDA&CS expands quarantine area for imported fire ants

Lincoln County and parts of Catawba County now included

Lincoln County and parts of Catawba County now fall under state quarantine rules for the imported fire ant as part of a continuing effort to monitor the spread of this pest and address control measures. The quarantine now includes portions or entire areas of 71 counties.

Effective Jan. 1, the imported fire ant quarantine is revised to include the addition of all of Lincoln County and the area south of Interstate 40 from the Iredell County line to the Burke County line in Catawba County. Under the rules, residents and business owners in the affected areas must obtain a permit before moving plants, sod and related equipment into or through non-infested areas.

Items requiring a permit include sod, soil, hay and straw, nursery plant material, logs or pulpwood with soil, and soil-moving equipment. Movement of infested materials could result in the establishment and secondary spread of the pest to non-infested areas. Certificates can be obtained from a local plant protection specialist or by contacting the Plant Protection Section at 800-206-9333 or 919-707-3730.

"It is important for operators within the quarantined area to contact the Plant Industry Division to obtain the needed inspections and certifications for movement of regulated articles," said Vernon Cox, director of the division. "Fire ants can be harmful to humans and livestock. It is critical we continue proactive efforts to slow down fire ant movement into non-infested areas of the state."

The imported fire ant first entered the United States through Alabama in 1918. It was first identified in the southeastern portion of North Carolina in Brunswick County in 1957.

Since its introduction, it has spread north to additional areas in the state, becoming recognized as an aggressive pest of farmlands, pastures, residential areas and wildlife. The imported fire ant is considered to be a nuisance and a health

by Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler

Commissioner Troxler

Our Research Stations Division has had an exceptionally busy fall, but it has been a good kind of busy.

In 2013, the General Assembly approved $2.5 million in funding to modernize equipment at the research stations. Additionally, funding for bio-energy development shifted from the nonprofit Biofuels Center of North Carolina to our department, and our staff is now tasked with administering the program and grants.

North Carolina has a long history of supporting agricultural research, and no doubt that is one of the reasons why agriculture and agribusiness remain our state's leading industry. I see today's research efforts as a long-term investment in the future of this vital industry, and even more necessary today as more and more consumers rely on a smaller number of farmers for food and fiber.

Some people may view agricultural production as an industry of the past, but I would argue it is anything but that. New technology, new equipment and new ideas are changing agriculture in exciting and much needed ways. I even saw a story recently that talked about how agriculture could become one of the biggest users of drone technology as a means to monitor crops and boost production.

At its core, agriculture is about food and fiber production. In my mind, it will always be an essential industry.

The truth of the matter is that less than 2 percent of the world population feeds the remaining 98 percent. And our population continues to grow. By 2050, the United Nations predicts farmers will need to produce 75 percent more food than they currently do today. That is going to present production challenges, especially as we continue to lose land to development and as our farmers continue to age. Maximizing yields in the past has had more to do with production efficiency and bottom lines than necessity. But as our population grows and food demands increase, we will need to be more efficient than ever. 2050 may seem like a long way off, but it's really only 37 more cropping seasons.

I appreciate the General Assembly making this investment in agricultural research a budget priority. In the short term, we should see some savings at the farm level as we decrease maintenance costs for older equipment and as we more efficiently use seed, land and fertilizer resources. Most of the equipment being ordered should be on hand by spring.

I am proud of the research partnership we have with N.C. State University and N.C. A&T State University. This collaboration has served our state well and I look forward to more successes in the future.

Bio-energy development is another area where I think North Carolina will benefit greatly (See Troxler, pg. 4)

NCDA&CS issues stop-sale order on Everclear motor oils, automatic transmission fluid

The N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services has issued a stop-sale order for three types of Everclear brand motor oil after the products failed tests for viscosity standards. Viscosity refers to the thickness of the oil offered for sale, and its ability to protect against engine wear.

The order applies to bottles of Everclear 5W30, 10W30 and 10W40 motor oil. The products are distributed by Everclear Oil in Austintown, Ohio. In addition to failing a viscosity test, the products are not labeled according to industry standards. Everclear Automatic Transmission Fluid also was pulled from sale for failure to meet any recognized specifications.

“Only one of 96 samples of these products passed our inspection,” said Stephen Benjamin, director of the NCDA&CS Standards Division. “We requested additional testing by Wear Check USA in Cary, and the results for both the oil and automatic transmission fluid showed that additives were either absent or not at the correct levels. This issue, along with the presence of wear metals, indicates these products are likely recycled in origin. Any of these results would put the products out of specification and cause them to be pulled from shelves.”

Retailers or distributors with this product in stock should return it to their suppliers. Inspectors with the Standards Division have already held 175 cases of product at distribution centers located in Greensboro and Charlotte. Consumers who have bottles of this motor oil should return it to the place of purchase.

Everclear was notified of the problems, but has yet to respond to NCDA&CS.

Asheville chef Adam Hayes wins Dig into Local Challenge

Adam Hayes, executive chef of the Red Stag Grill in Asheville, won the 2013 Dig into Local Challenge sponsored by the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

More than 30 restaurants in the state took on the challenge to showcase local, fresh North Carolina products on their menus from June through August.

“We really wanted the chefs to connect specific ingredients to local farms,” said Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler. “I can’t think of a better time to educate consumers about North Carolina products. It truly hits home because you can taste the difference.”

Adam Hayes

The Red Stag Grill is located inside the Grand Bohemian Hotel in downtown Asheville. Its menu focuses on European-style comfort food using the freshest local ingredients selected by Hayes from nearby farms.

“Chef Hayes is a natural for the Dig into Local Challenge program,” said Tim Parrish, foodservice marketing specialist with the department. “He displays a passion for fresh, local food products and has created many lasting relationships with area farms. He talks the talk and walks the walk when it comes to using local food on the menu.”

Hayes takes his culinary staff and servers on monthly field trips to local farms that supply products to the hotel. He believes this knowledge will benefit them when they prepare and serve the food to their customers.

Chefs participating in the challenge were required to customize a menu that identifies local ingredients and the farm, producer or processor. As supply increased during the height of the growing season, menus should have reflected that abundance in both ingredients and farms being used.

“The Dig into Local competition really challenges North Carolina chefs to create as many menu options tied to North Carolina products as possible,” Troxler said.

For more information about the challenge, visit www.gottobenc.com.

Granville County team tops in stringing contest

The winning team with Commissioner Steve Troxler, right.

The Granville County Loopers defended their title in the State Fair Tobacco Stringing Contest. For the second year in a row, David and Joy Lee Blackwell and Ruth Coats took home first place, $250 in prize money and individual plaques and ribbons.

The second-place team was the Dudley Loopers, made up of Fred and Violet Wise and Karen Spence, all of Dudley. They took home $150.

Third-place winners were the Jackson Trio with Janet and Terry Jackson and Curtis Alford, all of Zebulon. The team won first place in 2011, and this year took home $100 in prize money.

Sixteen teams competed in the seventh annual contest, which judged speed and quality of tobacco stringing. Each team consisted of three individuals – one stringer and two handers. Winners from the contest ranged in age from 14 to 94.

The contest was sponsored by the John Deere Ice Cream Boys, and was held in remembrance of Nannie Lou Carroll, who was a staple at the annual competition and passed away in 2013.

Caramel Apple Pie Cupcakes take the N.C. Apple Growers Association contest

Caramel Apple Pie Cupcakes, made by Samantha Nadeau of Clayton, took first place in the N.C. Apple Growers Association cooking contest at the 2013 N.C. State Fair. Nadeau took home $200 for the prize-winning recipe.

Julia Truelove of Raleigh came in second with her Swiss Apple and Onion Tart and won $150. In third place, earning $75, was Tina Barbour of Leasburg with Sausage and Apple Hand Pies. Amanda Boury of Raleigh won $25 as the Honorable Mention with her Carolina Caramel Apple Tiramisu.

Each recipe entry was required to use at least two cups of North Carolina apples.

The winning recipe follows:

Caramel Apple Pie Cupcakes

Cupcakes:

- 4 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 ounces (12 tablespoons) butter
- 2½ cups sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1½ cups apple sauce
- 2 cups sour cream

In a large bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cinnamon.

In another mixing bowl, beat eggs until frothy. Add apple sauce, butter and sour cream; beat until blended.

Stir into flour mixture.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Pour into cupcake pan and bake for 18–20 minutes.

Allow cupcakes to cool, then use the cone method to remove center of cupcake to allow for filling.

Apple Pie Filling:

- 2 tablespoons butter (unsalted)
- 4 cups of honey crisp apples
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon water

Melt butter in a medium saucepan over medium heat. Add apples, sugars, lemon juice and cinnamon. Cook until apples are tender and release their juices, about 10 minutes. In a small bowl, combine cornstarch and water. Add to apples and stir, cooking until thickened. Remove from heat and cool to room temperature. Once cooled, spoon filling into the cooled cupcakes.

Salted Caramel Buttercream Icing:

- ½ cup butter, softened
- ½ cup shortening
- 2 tablespoons caramel sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 5 cups powdered sugar
- 1 to 2 tablespoons water (for thinning)

In a stand mixer, cream together the butter and shortening. Add powdered sugar and the caramel sauce alternately. Add salt. Add water slowly for thinning. Pipe icing onto cooled and filled cupcakes.

East Wake Warrior Burger a winning recipe in the N.C. Cattlemen's Beef Council contest

DeMarco Bizzell of Wendell took home a blue ribbon and $200 for his East Wake Warrior Burger in the N.C. Cattlemen's Beef Council It's All About Hamburger competition.

Julia Truelove of Raleigh came in second with her Black and Blue Burger Stew and won $150. In third place, earning $100, was Jonathon Finch of Holly Springs with Southern Dude Ranch Beef Casserole.

Each recipe entry was required to have at least three ounces of hamburger per serving and was judged on taste, creativity and appearance.

The winning recipe follows:

East Wake Warrior Burger

- 8 3-ounce ground beef patties
- 3 medium North Carolina sweet potatoes
- ½ cup butter
- ½ cup maple syrup
- 1 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- Pinch of salt
- 8 slices white cheddar cheese
- Lettuce
- 8 potato rolls

Sauce:

- 1 cup light brown sugar
- 1/8 cup ground cinnamon
- 1 tablespoon ground all spice
- ½ cup Dijon mustard
- ½ cup hot mustard
- ¼ cup ketchup
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire
- ½ cup lime juice
- 1 tablespoon cayenne

In a medium pot, combine sauce ingredients and bring to a boil, then simmer. In another pot, boil sweet potatoes until tender.

Let potatoes cool slightly and cut them into ¼ - ½ -inch thick slices. Sprinkle potatoes with cinnamon.

Grill hamburger patties on an open grill. Sprinkle with cayenne, then place cheese on patties and continue to cook until cheese is melted and burgers are done.

Spread 1 tablespoon of sauce on the bun. Place patty on bun, then add lettuce and sliced sweet potato.

The Franklin County Extension Office will host a "Retail Ready for Local Food" workshop for specialty crop growers interested in selling to wholesale market outlets. The workshop will be held Jan. 24 from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Franklin County Extension Office, 103 S. Bickett Blvd. in Louisburg. The workshop is free, but registration is required by Jan. 17. Call the extension office at 919-496-3344 to register. Identifying potential markets, identifying and building a partnership with buyers, getting all the details right, including packaging, labeling, pricing, supply and storage, delivery, payment terms and insurance will be covered. There will be a panel discussion with four local buyers with Prize of the Harvest in Oxford, The Harvest Restaurant in Oxford, Lowes Food in Raleigh and Foster-Caviness in Greensboro. The event offers an opportunity for growers and buyers to talk about local market crop needs.

The 2014 Southern Farm Show returns to the N.C. State Fairgrounds Feb. 5-7, with more than 500 manufacturers and suppliers expected to showcase agricultural products and services. The show is adding an extra exhibit tent to accommodate 53 companies that were not part of last year's show. The expansion mirrors the strong economic showing the ag industry is experiencing. Other activities include the Southern National Draft Horse Pull, working dog demonstrations, tractor pulls and continuing education classes for pesticide license holders. Admission and parking are free. A number of commodity meetings and special events will be held in conjunction with the Southern Farm Show. The N.C. Pork Conference will be held Feb. 6 at 9 a.m., and the N.C. Agricultural Development Forum will also be held Feb. 6 at 9:30 a.m. An annual fundraiser for the Tobacco Farm Life Museum will be held Feb. 7 at 8 a.m., followed by the annual meeting of the Tobacco Growers Association of North Carolina at 10 a.m. The N.C. Soybean Producers Association Forum will also be held on Feb. 7. For more information, go to the show's website at www.SouthernFarmShow.com.

from being so forward thinking. Research and development of biofuels is well under way in our state, in part because of the potential this technology offers in terms of jobs and economic opportunities.

The budget provides the department with $500,000 for grants this fiscal year and $1 million next year. In addition, we were able to work it out so that most of the existing research and development projects previously funded by the Biofuels Center could continue.

Going forward, our focus will be on research and development of dedicated feedstocks for biofuels production. We believe that cellulosic ethanol facilities and similar bio-based industries will provide opportunities to grow our farm income. We need to shift the focus away from agricultural commodities that are feedstocks for humans or livestock.

We want to leverage current technology, develop more applied technology and identify the gaps, so that we can help farmers and the biofuels industry move forward.

Recently, the Italian biofuels company Biochemtex announced plans to build an ethanol plant in Sampson County. The plan will use grasses, not corn, to make fuel.

I think Biochemtex's announcement shows that North Carolina is continuing to move forward in developing biofuels. Our state has a great opportunity to become a leader in feedstock production for biofuels because we have the right combination of natural resources, excellent farmers, top universities and strong industry partners.

As I mentioned before, agriculture is definitely not an industry of the past. I am only encouraged by what I see happening in terms of investment in agriculture in this state by our legislature, by agricultural researchers, by agribusinesses and also by farmers. I hope this investment encourages more young people to look at agriculture as a possible career choice.

Sweet Potato Oranges win in the Anything But Ordinary! Sweet Potato Recipe Contest

Taylor Buscemi of Cary won first place and $250 for Sweet Potato Oranges in the Anything But Ordinary! Sweet Potato Recipe Contest at the N.C. State Fair.

Dayle Johnson of Cary placed second and received $175 for Baked Manicotti with Country Sweet Potato Stuffing. Rhianna Brandt of Durham placed third and received $125 for Rhianna's Red Eye Sweet Potato Soup. Honorable mention and $75 went to Crystal Cox of Raleigh for her Zesty Sweet Potato and Tomato Soup

All entries were required to include at least 1½ cups of fresh sweet potatoes and were judged on taste, family appeal, creativity and ease of preparation. The contest was sponsored by the N.C. Sweet Potato Commission.

The winning recipe follows:

Sweet Potato Oranges

6 medium/large oranges	1 cup butter, softened, divided
3 cups mashed, cooked sweet potatoes	1 tablespoon grated orange peel
¼ cup white sugar	1 cup light brown sugar
¼ cup loosely packed light brown sugar	½ cup all-purpose flour
2 eggs, room temperature, lightly beaten	1 cup chopped pecans
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Prepare oranges by cutting tops off, ¼ to ½ inch down. Spoon out the flesh, leaving the shell.

In a large bowl, combine sweet potatoes, sugar, eggs, vanilla extract, ½ cup butter and grated orange peel. Spoon mixture into orange shells. Place in deep casserole dish.

In a small saucepan over medium heat, combine remaining ½ cup butter, brown sugar, flour and pecans. Cook until sugar dissolves in melted butter. Spoon over oranges. Fill casserole dish with water to reach ½ inch depth.

Bake in preheated oven for 30 minutes.
