Peak-season soil sampling fees go into effect Nov. 25

Growers are reminded to send in their soil samples to the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services Agronomic Services' Lab by Nov. 24 to avoid peak-season fees. There will be a $4 fee per sample for those received during the lab's peak-processing time from Nov. 25 through March 31. Samples received before Nov. 25 or after March 31 will be processed for free.

"We implemented the peak-season fee to better manage the processing of soil samples and help ensure growers get their information in time to plan for the upcoming season," said Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler. "Many people turned in their samples earlier, spreading the workload over more weeks and lessening a late rush of samples that created backlogs for testing in the lab."

The Agronomic Division offers an expedited service on a limited basis. Growers can purchase expedited shippers, which can hold up to 36 soil samples, for $200 each. Each shipper comes with a guaranteed turnaround time of two weeks.

Contact the Agronomic Division at 919-733-2655 for questions about peak-season fees, online sample submission or to purchase expedited shippers.

NC State Fair runs Oct. 16-26 in Raleigh

The 2014 N.C. State Fair starts Oct. 16 and visitors will find many of their old favorites mixed in with a variety of new entertainment and exhibits.

The Neon Anteaters may sound like an emerging rock 'n' roll group, but they are actually one of the fair's newest roaming acts. These purple and blue creatures are quadruped stilt walkers and they will be doling out "slurpy kisses" at the flower show during their daily strolls.

In Kiddieland, Izzie, a face-painting fairy, will be moving around on Glitter, her bicycle dragon, while stopping to tell stories to fairgoers. Near the rabbit barn, the family-friendly Tumbleweed Crossing Wild West Show featuring special effects, stunt performances and comedy gunfight scenes will perform daily at noon, 3, and 6 p.m., with an additional show at 10 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Other free and new acts include:

The Farmer Phil Show featuring juggling, yo-yo and magic routines while teaching audiences of all ages a little about farmers and agriculture. Shows are held daily in Kiddieland Fun Park.

The State Fair junior and open dairy cattle competitions are held the final weekend of the fair.

Farmers should have corn tested for aflatoxin

Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler is encouraging farmers to have their corn tested for aflatoxin to prevent contamination of feeds and food.

Aflatoxin is a byproduct of the mold Aspergillus flavus, and can be harmful to both humans and livestock.

"We have six drop-off locations at research stations across the state to make it easy for farmers to submit samples," Troxler said. "I encourage farmers to take advantage of our testing service to protect feed and food against this mold."

Some farmers may need to have corn samples tested for crop insurance or quality assurance purposes. These samples must be submitted to a grain marketing location certified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The tests cost $22.20 per sample.

For insurance or quality assurance purposes, farmers must submit a 5-pound sample of shelled corn by mail, UPS or FedEx to a USDA-certified grain marketing location. The following locations can conduct USDA-certified testing, and they will accept samples between 6:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays:

Commissioner Troxler

North Carolina's fair season is hitting the home stretch, and I hope folks have already had the opportunity to visit a county or regional fair. These are fun community events that showcase the talents and skills of residents and also highlight agriculture in the area.

The N.C. Mountain State Fair wrapped up a successful 2014 fair, despite several rain days. While we did not break the overall attendance record, everywhere I went on the grounds, I saw people having a good time.

We did have a record Ingles Day, with 3,428 people bringing in five cans of food in exchange for admission to the fair. All food collected is donated to the MANNA Food Bank, which supports 200 partner agencies across 16 Western N.C. counties.

We are proud to be a partner in hunger-relief efforts through the Mountain State Fair and the N.C. State Fair. Food Lion Hunger Relief Day at the N.C. State Fair will be Thursday, Oct. 23. Bring five cans of Food Lion brand food for free admission that day.

The State Fair theme this year is "The October Original," because this is a truly unique event. Where else can you find so many deep-fried treats, racing pigs, agricultural exhibits, art, crafts, tractor pulls, flowers, giant pumpkins, livestock, heritage crafts, rides, activities for the kids, horses, cutting-edge ag equipment and technology, displayed in one place?

I think about everything you can see and do at the State Fair and I believe that all of those things are what make the fair an annual tradition for many people and their families. The fair offers something for everyone.

I personally love all the exhibits and activities in Heritage Circle and the livestock shows. There are so many activities in these areas – tobacco tying contest, storytelling, music, livestock competitions – that I could spend all of my time there and be completely happy. My grandchildren love the rides, games and foods.

And my wife, Sharon, never misses the Village of Yesteryear and its crafters – sometimes visiting more than once or twice.

This year, fairgoers will find many new attractions to join the traditional fair favorites. You can read more about the new items in the State Fair article above and on page 8.

I do want to mention a special exhibit in the North Lobby of Dorton Arena, highlighting North Carolina's military role in World War I. We have a long-standing and proud military tradition in this state, and I think visitors will enjoy this exhibit, which coincides with the 100th anniversary of WWI.

Whatever you love about the State Fair, I hope you will join us Oct. 16-26 in Raleigh.

Farmland preservation trust fund announces 2014 grant recipients

The N.C. Agricultural Development and Farmland Preservation Trust Fund recently awarded nearly $2.3 million to help communities across the state protect farmland and promote agricultural enterprises.

These grant recipients were applicants from the trust fund's Cycle VII request for proposals. Funding resources included statewide general appropriations, Tennessee Valley Authority settlement funds and, for the first time, military funds.

"The trust fund awarded 23 grants for this cycle, including conservation easements, agricultural projects and plans," Troxler said. "Our new partnership with the military will protect and enhance the top two economic sectors in North Carolina: agriculture and the military."

The trust fund collaborated with the military to support agriculture and agribusiness in areas of the state where military bases and training are located. TVA settlement funds were distributed to a 17-county region in Western North Carolina.

Below is a list, by county, of applicants that received grants:

- Buncombe
The Buncombe County Soil and Water Conservation District received $375,000 to assist with the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 134 acres of farm and forestland owned by Janet Peterson of Fletcher.
- Caswell:
The Piedmont Land Conservancy was awarded $314,000 to assist with the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 363 acres of a livestock and poultry farm owned by V. Mac and Peggy Baldwin of Yanceyville.
- Cleveland:
The Cleveland County Soil and Water Conservation District was granted $14,000 to aid the development and adoption of a farmland protection plan.
- Duplin:
The Duplin County Soil and Water Conservation District received $172,575 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 60 acres of a crop and forestry farm owned by Mitchell and Marlene Paige of Faison.
- Franklin:
The Black Family Land Trust was awarded $143,475 toward the purchase of a 20-year conservation easement on 436 acres of a livestock and horticulture farm owned by Martha Mobley of Louisburg.

- Haywood:
- The Haywood County Soil and Water Conservation District was granted $362,500 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 100 acres of a livestock and crop farm owned by Andrew and Jamie Francis of Canton.
- The Haywood County Soil and Water Conservation District received $87,500 toward the purchase of a 30-year conservation easement on 100 acres of a livestock and forestry farm owned by Austin and Kathy Swanger of Clyde.
- The Southwestern N.C. Resource Conservation and Development Council was awarded $188,500 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 80 acres of a livestock and forestry farm owned by Charles and Janice Henson of Canton.
- The Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy was granted $135,780 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 175 acres of a livestock, crop and forestry farm owned by Robbie Kirkpatrick of Candler.
- Mitchell:
The Mitchell County Soil and Water Conservation District received $12,000 to aid the development and adoption of a farmland protection plan.
- Person:
The Piedmont Conservation Council was awarded $14,000 to aid the development and adoption of a farmland protection plan.
- Swain:
The Swain County Soil and Water Conservation District was granted $10,200 to stimulate profitable and sustainable farms through a series of educational workshops, market studies and marketing efforts.
- Watauga:
Watauga County Soil and Water Conservation District received $25,000 to buy high-cost farming equipment for rental to new and limited-resource farmers.
The trust fund also awarded grants to the following organizations for projects of multi-county and regional impact:
 - The Lois G. Britt Agribusiness Center at

Bucolic briefs

Two Johnston County horse show series, one an open class and the second a hunter class, have been announced. The hunter show date is Nov. 8. Following are open horse show dates: Oct. 25 and Nov. 22. Events are held at the Johnston County Livestock Arena in Smithfield. For more, go to www.blaine-mclaughlin-stables.com or call Michele McLaughlin at 919-934-1344.

As a way to help farmers and agricultural workers stay safe at work, the N.C. Department of Labor offers safety videos on a variety of topics through its YouTube channel. Video topics include: preventing green tobacco sickness, hazard communication, tobacco harvester safety, heat stress, migrant housing requirements, forklift safety, and information about the NCDOL's Gold Star Growers program. The videos are in English and Spanish to increase understanding of safety hazards and preventing accidents. To learn more about the NCDOL and the Agricultural Safety and Health Bureau, go to www.nclabor.com or call 1-800-NC-LABOR (800-625-2267). NCDOL is also on Facebook and Twitter (@NCDOL).

Beekeepers with bees for rent and growers interested in bee pollination services can post their information on the BeeLinked website at www.ncagr.com/beelinked. The site is hosted by the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and the N.C. State University Apiculture Program. Anyone interested in listing their information can do so by filling out an online Submit Your Ad form on the BeeLinked page or by contacting NCDA&CS at 919-233-8214 or by email at NCHoneybee@ncagr.gov or call NCSU at 919-515-1660. The NCDA&CS Plant Industry Division regulates the movement of agricultural or related items capable of spreading harmful insects, diseases, and other pests. Beekeepers participating in this program will be required to comply with all honey and bee industry regulations.

can have it tested for free by the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services' Constable Laboratory, 4000 Reedy Creek Road in Raleigh. This laboratory is not on the Risk Management Agency's approved testing facility list; therefore, results from this location will not be accepted for insurance claims.

Farmers may drop off 5-pound samples of shelled corn at the Constable Laboratory or at one of six agricultural research stations. Forms for submitting samples will be available at the Laboratory and the following collection sites:

- Border Belt Tobacco Research Station, 86 Border Belt Drive, Whiteville, 910-648-4703;
- Peanut Belt Tobacco Research Station, 112 Research Station Lane, Lewiston-Woodville, 252-348-2213;
- Tidewater Research Station, 207 Research Station Road, Plymouth, 252-793-4118;
- Lower Coastal Plain Tobacco/Cunningham Research Station, 200 Cunningham Road, Kinston, 252-527-3579;
- Piedmont Research Station, 8350 Sherrills Ford Road, Salisbury, 704-278-2624;
- Mountain Horticultural Crops Research Station, 74 Research Drive, Fletcher, 828-684-7197.

Samples also may be mailed directly to the lab at the following address:

This year we will return to 12 issues of the newspaper. The deadline for the November issue of the Agricultural Review is Oct. 1; the deadline for the December issue is Nov. 3.

Market News Service to offer price reports for local products

The N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services' State and Federal Market News Service is launching a series of reports focusing on locally produced agricultural products.

Reports for the state-operated farmers markets in Raleigh and Asheville, which list current wholesale prices, are now online, as is Farm to School information, which provides total produce sales delivered plus unit prices. In addition to these reports, Market News plans to develop reports for direct-to-consumer sales, which will capture the prices of commodities that farmers market to consumers. Reports on grass-fed beef are expected to be available starting in September.

The new reports will provide users with information that can assist them with making informed business decisions, said Sherry Barefoot, Market News manager. The information can assist producers with their financial planning, assist insurance companies with settling insurance claims and benefit other members of the industry, she said.

"Interest in, and demand for, locally grown foods has increased significantly in the past 10 years," said Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler. "This has been a win-win for farmers and the economy, as consumers are enjoying more foods straight from the farm, creating new markets and supporting the local economy."

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Census of Agriculture, the number of North Carolina farms selling agricultural products directly to consumers in 2012 was 4,475. That is up from 3,712 in 2007 and 3,054 in 2002. The total market value of direct sales in 2012 was $31.8 million.

The new reports can be found on the Market News website at www.ncagr.gov/markets/mktnews/local.htm.

NCD&CS offers organic certification cost-share grants

Organic growers in North Carolina can apply for partial reimbursement of the cost of becoming certified or for recertification through a program offered by the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

Growers who are certified or recertified between Oct. 1, 2013, and Sept. 30, 2014, can apply for assistance through the program. The program will pay 75 percent of the cost of certification up to a total of $750.

Under the grant, operations can be certified and reimbursed in four separate categories including crops, livestock, wild crop and handler/processor.

The program is for the 2013-2014 season and is funded through a $212,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Funds are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Applications must be postmarked by Dec. 1.

To apply, growers must provide the completed application, along with detailed invoices/statements from the certifying agency listing all National Organic Program certified costs, an IRS W-9 form and a copy of your certificate or letter from your certifier if this is a new certification. All charges must be for USDA organic certification.

Mail the application and required documents to the NCD&CS Organic Certification Cost Share Program, Attn. Heather Barnes, at 1020 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, NC 27699-1020. For questions, contact Barnes at 919-707-3127.

ADFPTF grants

Mount Olive University received $30,000 to prepare Cost of Community Services studies in Craven and Pamlico counties.

- The Lois G. Britt Agribusiness Center at the University of Mount Olive was awarded $192,764 to evaluate and analyze the potential for value-added soybean processing in Eastern North Carolina through the expansion of services provided by Mule City Specialty Feeds, an independent agribusiness company in Johnston County. The project will serve Alamance, Bladen, Chatham, Cumberland, Duplin, Durham, Edgecombe, Franklin, Harnett, Hoke, Johnston, Jones, Lee, Lenoir, Nash, Orange, Robeson, Sampson, Vance, Wake, Wayne and Wilson counties.
- The University of North Carolina at Asheville Foundation was granted $7,000 to demonstrate the innovative use of perennial food crops on marginal land to increase small farm profitability. The program will serve Buncombe, Haywood, Henderson, Madison, Mitchell and Yancey counties.
- The Southwestern N.C. Resource Conservation and Development Council received $25,000 to develop a Smoky Mountain Agriculture Economic Strategy focusing on the needs and opportunities for farmers in Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Haywood, Jackson, Macon and Swain counties.
- The Swain County Soil and Water Conservation District was awarded $16,000 for the creation of a mobile soils exhibit that will serve as an interactive education display in order for the public to better make connections between the conditions of soils and water on quality of life.

The following regional projects will impact the TVA region:

- Henderson County was awarded $60,000 to expand and upgrade a cider facility at McConnell Farms in Hendersonville.
- Jackson County was granted $10,000 to assess whether a viable business model can be developed for a profitable red-meat slaughter and processing facility in Western North Carolina.
- The Mountain Valleys Resource Conservation and Development Council was granted $33,000 to install solar water heating systems on dairy farms in Western North Carolina.
- WNC Communities received $25,000 to establish a system to deliver brewers grain as an alternative and cost-saving feed source to family farmers with smaller livestock herds.
- WNC Communities was awarded $32,500 to fund enhancements and safety upgrades to the WNC Regional Livestock Center in Haywood County. The trust fund was a partner in the construction of the center.

USDA designates five coastal counties as disaster areas

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has designated Pamlico County as a primary natural disaster area because of damages and losses caused by excessive rain and winds that occurred when Hurricane Arthur hit the North Carolina coast on July 3.

Farmers and ranchers in Beaufort, Carteret, Craven and Hyde counties also qualify for assistance because their counties are contiguous.

All counties listed above were designated natural disaster areas on Sept. 10, making all qualified farm operators in the designated areas eligible for low interest emergency loans from USDA's Farm Service Agency, provided eligibility requirements are met.

Farmers in eligible counties have eight months from the date of the declaration to apply for loans to help cover part of their actual losses. FSA will consider each loan application on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available and repayment ability.

More programs available to assist farmers and ranchers include the Emergency Conservation Program, the Livestock Forage Disaster Program, the Livestock Indemnity Program, the Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees and Farm-Raised Fish Program, and the Tree Assistance Program. Interested farmers may contact their local USDA Service Center for information on eligibility requirements and application procedures for these and other programs.

More information is online at <http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov>.

performing daily on the north side of Dorton Arena. Earning a silver medal at the World Juggling Championships at age 15, Roberto has been entertaining audiences with his comedy show, which encourages audience participation and features juggling and a unicycle, for more than 20 years.

Brad Matchett, comedy hypnotist, returning with even more family-friendly shows. He will perform nightly at 7:30 in the Folk Festival tent, with an additional 9 p.m. show on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Down to Earth Aerials dazzling fairgoers with high-flying feats on the north Dorton Arena lawn. Any fairgoers nearby should have a great view of their show, which takes place in the air with twists, turns and heart-stopping stunts.

Grounds entertainment also includes more roaming acts such as Popping Penelope doing her balloon act in front of the Expo Center; stilt-walking by Zachari; Walking Tree Man; and Living Statues.

Music lovers will find a mix of pop, rock, country and Latin throughout the day on the Kitchen Craft Waterfall Stage and bluegrass performances in Heritage Circle.

Other returning favorites include The One Man Band, Kenya Safari Acrobats, K-9s in Flight, Fire Safety Show, Hansen's Spectacular Acrobatic Sensations, Dale Jones Juggler, Circle C Racing Pigs and Melvin the Wacky Wheeler. At 9:45 nightly, fireworks presented by OneMain Financial will light up the sky.

The north lobby of Dorton Arena will feature a new exhibit honoring North Carolina's involvement in World War I. Historians in uniform will be on hand to answer questions and explain the soldiers experience in the trenches. This exhibit is presented by N.C. Cultural Resources and The N.C. National Guard.

The Ag Today tent on the south side of Dorton Arena will show the latest in precision agriculture, including an unmanned aerial vehicle.

New this year at the Hunt Horse Complex is a Year of the Horse Celebration. The schedule of events includes a variety of activities including headline shows, parade of breeds and free, five-minute riding lessons.

All grounds entertainment and exhibits are free with admission to the fair. Visit www.ncstatefair.org or pick up a daily program at the entrance gate for times of performances and exhibit hours. Fairgoers can also download the free N.C. State Fair app on Android and Apple devices. While enjoying the fair, be sure to use #ncstatefair to share your memories on social media. Look for selfie stations scattered around the fairgrounds for a few suggested photo opportunities. You can follow the fair on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

The N.C. State Fair runs Oct. 16-26 at the State Fairgrounds.

Advance tickets are on sale at www.ncstatefair.org. Advance tickets are $7 for adults and $3 for ages 6-12. Admission at the gate is $9 for adults and $4 for ages 6-12. Walk-up ticket sales begin Oct. 2 in Burlington, Chapel Hill, Clayton, Durham, Wilson and Raleigh. Go to www.ncstatefair.org for more on sites and hours.

New fees set for NC poultry growers

North Carolina poultry growers who want to join the National Poultry Improvement Plan and receive a registration number will have to pay a $50 registration fee plus 10 cents per bird tested beginning Oct. 1.

Growers with an existing registration number will need to pay a $10 annual recertification fee and pay 10 cents per bird tested to maintain their status. The fees were set by the General Assembly this summer to help cover costs incurred by the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services to administer the program.

Growers who sell live baby poultry or hatching eggs must be compliant with basic NPIP testing requirements, though they are not required to join the NPIP.

"This fee will help our Veterinary Division and our nationally accredited veterinary laboratories allocate the resources needed to maintain a healthy poultry industry in North Carolina," Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler said. "North Carolina's poultry growers contribute more than $4 billion in cash receipts to the state's economy and we must be ever vigilant in our disease surveillance efforts."

The NPIP was established in the 1930s to improve poultry and poultry products on a national level and to eliminate Salmonella pullorum disease, which caused up to 80 percent mortality in young flocks. The program was later extended to include testing and monitoring for several more diseases – including most recently, avian influenza – in commercial poultry, turkeys, waterfowl, exhibition poultry, backyard poultry and game birds.

Last year, the NCDA&CS Veterinary Division registered 596 new flocks, of which 497 were non-commercial. Overall, North Carolina has more than 8,100 registered flocks.
