People News

Michelle McGinnis was hired as the new section chief of the Agronomic Services Division's Field Services, effective Sept. 9. She assumes the duties of J. Kent Messick, who retired in July.

The Field Services Section consists of a staff of 13 regional agronomists who provide nutrient-management and other consulting services to growers throughout North Carolina.

McGinnis, currently a plant pest supervisor with the Plant Industry Division, will be returning to the division where she served as an agronomist from 2007 through early 2012. In addition to her experience in the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, McGinnis has nine years of private-sector experience in environmental consulting and ornamental-plant production.

Raised in Chambersburg, Pa., McGinnis holds a Bachelor of Science in environmental health from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, a Master of Science Public Health in environmental sciences and engineering from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a Ph.D. in horticultural science from N.C. State University.

She lives in Chatham County with her husband, dog and three cats.

N.C. Mountain State Fair runs Sept. 6-15

Fletcher offers a picture-perfect setting for the annual Mountain State Fair. The 10-day fair is one of Western North Carolina's premier events. Rides, food, agricultural exhibits, livestock shows, crafts, music, clogging and more are part of the planned festivities.

Peak-season soil-test fee coming

The 2013 Appropriations Act passed by the General Assembly approved a $4 fee for soil samples analyzed by the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services for the period from December through March.

The fee is an attempt to lessen the backlog associated with the busy season when the lab is routinely inundated with tens of thousands of samples. The rest of the year -- April through November -- NCDA&CS will continue to analyze soil samples without a fee.

In fiscal year 2013, the NCDA&CS Agronomic Division analyzed nearly 368,000 soil samples. About 60 percent of these arrived at the lab during the peak season of December through March, slowing processing turnaround time to nine weeks at one point. At other times of the year, processing can easily be completed within about two to four weeks, depending on sample volume.

The new peak-season fee should accomplish two goals. First, it will encourage more growers to submit samples earlier, thereby fostering a more balanced sample load throughout the year.

Secondly, the fee will enhance sustainability of the soil-testing program because re-

NCDA&CS inspectors make sure consumers get money's worth

Gummy bears or brownie bites, chocolate sauce or whipped cream, frozen yogurt shops allow customers to fill up a cup with frozen yogurt, top it as they please and then pay based on weight.

Inspectors from the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services are busy inspecting scales at these establishments to make sure customers are getting what they pay for. Customers are supposed to pay only for the weight of the contents of their filled cup, not the weight of the cup. The packaging weight is referred to as a tare weight, and it must be removed from the product weight.

"We urge consumers to be vigilant and check their receipt or ask the salesperson if the cost of the cup has been deducted from the sale," said Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler. "Our job is to protect consumers, and one of the ways we do this is to make sure you pay only for product, not packaging. If you think you have been charged for the packaging weight or if a business is using a scale that has not been inspected, you can report this at 919-707-3225."

Commissioner Troxler

As many of you may remember from previous columns, this year I have served as president of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture. I am wrapping up my term this month at the annual meeting of the states and territories, which we are hosting in Asheville.

Each state's agricultural community faces different challenges, but we also share many common ones, too, and that is what this organization focuses on

by Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler

– working on issues that affect all of our industry. The farm bill and immigration are two examples of efforts we have been monitoring closely this year.

Labor needs are a big concern for many farmers today, and having some kind of foreign worker program is a significant agricultural worry. Crops don't just harvest themselves, and the outcome of the farm bill has far-reaching implications in terms of farm stability.

With the anticipation that farmers will need to produce 75 to 100 percent more food by 2050 just to meet the increasing demands of a growing global population, we will need a strong national agricultural industry. That is why it is so important for us as agricultural leaders to weigh in on these issues while we have an opportunity to bring about change.

As of press time, there has been no resolution on the farm bill, which leaves a lot of farmers in limbo. Both the House and Senate approved versions of the bill. Two of the main NASDA priorities – support for the Specialty Crop Block Grant and Market Access programs – have remained in the bills.

The Market Access Program helps U.S. producers compete in foreign markets, which can be lucrative for businesses. The latest figures for North Carolina's ag exports are $3.7 billion, not including lumber exports. Foreign markets are important to growers now and they will continue to be critical in the future.

Food safety is another area of concern for anyone involved in agriculture, so it is something that NASDA is also very involved in. We are working to draft NASDA's comments to the Food and Drug Administration on the Produce Safety Rule and Preventive Controls Rule. The comment period for these rules has been extended until mid-November, so I would encourage producers to review these rules and add their comments as well. We want to make sure the rules will be effective.

As I reflect back on my year as president of NASDA, I am most especially proud to be serving at a time when so many important issues are being debated. One of my college professors told me long ago that agricultural policies will have the biggest effect on a farming operation, and through the years his insight has proven to be true.

The ag policies we help influence today will have a significant impact on the future of agriculture and the next generation of farmers. I want to do everything I can to ensure they have a bright future and the tools and resources to meet consumer demands.

N.C. State Fair welcomes new acts to the entertainment mix

Visitors to the 2013 N.C. State Fair can expect to find a mix of old and new when it comes to grounds entertainment and activities.

New musical acts, an elf-like performer who rolls around the grounds on a giant open wheel, high-flying acrobats, a fire safety show with clowns and a pedal-propelled structure featuring circus-like aerialists will join such popular acts as the racing pigs, a magician, and a roaming robot.

All grounds entertainment is free with paid admission, so it pays to pay attention.

The Gantry Bike by Cirque Mechanics makes its debut at the State Fair and will likely attract many onlookers with its tall, pedal-powered mechanical structure that serves as a kind of stage. Aerialists dangle overhead from the structure, spinning and twirling as the whole contraption moves between Gate 11 and Dorton Arena at noon, 3 and 6 p.m.

It won't be the only oversized rolling attraction or aerial show joining the entertainment lineup. The Wacky Wheeler is a super-sized open wheel that provides transportation for its entertaining rider, Melvin. Honking horns and colorful flags make the Wacky Wheeler nearly impossible to miss. Look for it near the Scott Building at 11 a.m. and 1, 3 and 5 p.m.

Keeping your attention sky-ward, Hansen's Spectacular Acrobatic Sensations is a family affair including the youngest of Shane and Alecia Michelle Hansen's three children, 3-year-old Ella. This thrilling show features high-speed juggling, acrobatic feats on a trampoline and high-flying performances on the 30-foot-tall cloud swing by Alecia Michelle. The family performs beside the FFA Children's Barn at noon, 3 and 6 p.m.

Karen Quest, billed as America's Funniest Cowgirl, will entertain visitors at 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. in Kiddieland. Quest combines roping skills and tricks with humor for an engaging all-ages show.

The State Fair features two stages featuring a variety of musical styles. Larry Cordle, a Nashville songwriter and recording artist, will perform on the Bluegrass Stage in Heritage Circle. His shows are at 4 and 6 p.m., Oct. 17 and noon, 3 and 6 p.m. Oct. 18-27. Diamond Creek, winner of the 2013 Got to Be NC Festival Bluegrass Competition, will perform Oct. 26 and 27 at 11 a.m. and 2 and 5 p.m.

The Kitchen Craft Waterfall Stage will feature several first-time acts such as Descendentes, Dimension and Flamasso Musical. Other performers include GrooveTown, Hicksboro Station and Larry Frick. Performances are held daily at 10:30 a.m., noon,

1:30, 3, 4:30 and 6 p.m. In addition, there will be special performances on Military Day, Oct. 23.

Also new will be a special quilt project in the Village of Yesteryear to commemorate the 160th anniversary of the State Fair. FFA and 4-H groups across the state will be submitting quilt squares that will be assembled into a quilt during the State Fair. Volunteer quilters will work on the project to demonstrate quilting techniques.

Even with all the new entertainment planned, fairgoers will still find plenty of their favorites, including the racing pigs, Kenya Safari Acrobats, a magician, a one-man band and a BMX stunt show. Mix in a thrilling midway, lots of food options, arts and crafts, the Folk Festival, agricultural exhibits and livestock shows, and the fair is like an entertainment buffet.

The N.C. State Fair runs Oct. 17-27 at the State Fairgrounds in Raleigh. Advance tickets are on sale now at www.ncstatefair.org. Advance tickets are $7 for adults and $3 for kids 6-12. Admission at the gate is $9 for adults and $4 for kids. Walk-up tickets sales will begin Oct. 3 in Burlington, Clayton, Chapel Hill, Durham, Wilson and Raleigh. Go online at www.ncstatefair.org for more information on walk-up sites and hours.

Division inspects scales at retail stores that sell products to customers by weight.

These include grocery stores, coffee shops, buffet restaurants and candy stores. Point-of-sale commercial scales should be in view of customers and show a Standards Division seal of approval.

All retail establishments are required to notify the Standards Division after installing a scale. Inspectors make sure the scale is operating properly and that store employees know how to correctly set a tare weight to deduct the cost of packaging from the sale.

Standards Division inspectors are spread out across the state. "We are working with businesses to make sure they know the rules," said Stephen Benjamin, director.

"In the case of the frozen yogurt containers, it could add up to 40 cents per cup to the total price. That adds up if you are buying for a family of four."

If a store is found to be in violation, the first step is to educate business owners and make sure they and their employees know how to use the scale and how to set a tare weight. The second offense results in a notice of violation, and the third offense carries a civil penalty of up to $5,000.

ADFPTF awards $1.9 million in grants

The Agricultural Development and Farmland Preservation Trust Fund recently awarded more than $1.9 million to help communities across the state protect farmland and promote agricultural enterprises.

"The trust fund was able to grant 22 projects funding this year, including 11 projects that were funded from the state's legal settlement with the Tennessee Valley Authority," Troxler said. "The conservation easements, agricultural projects and plans will help to solidify agriculture and agribusiness as North Carolina's top industry."

Below is a list, by county, of applicants that received grants:

Bertie:

Bertie County and Bertie County Cooperative Extension were awarded $3,500 to help pay for educational meetings and other outreach to landowners on behalf of the county's Voluntary Agricultural District.

Buncombe:

The Buncombe County Soil and Water Conservation District received $110,000 to assist with the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 78 acres of a livestock and crop farm owned by Gary Hutchins of Leicester.

The Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy was awarded $75,000 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 25 acres of a livestock and crop farm owned by Will Jeffers of Leicester.

The Buncombe County Soil and Water Conservation District was granted $225,000 to assist with the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 167 acres of farm and forestland owned by Janet Peterson of Fletcher.

Cabarrus:

The Cabarrus County Soil and Water Conservation District received $228,112.50 to assist with the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 182 acres of a livestock and poultry farm owned by Thomas E. Porter Jr. of Concord.

Chatham:

The Chatham County Soil and Water Conservation District was awarded $220,500 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 220 acres of a livestock and poultry farm owned by Mike Lindley of Snow Camp.

Columbus:

The Columbus County Soil and Water Conservation District was granted $19,000 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 15 acres of cropland in Chadbourne owned by Mary Yates of Ocean Isle Beach.

Forsyth:

Forsyth County and Forsyth County Cooperative Extension received $14,000 to aid the development and adoption of a farmland protection plan.

Haywood:

The Haywood County Economic Development Commission was awarded $15,000 toward expanding the brand recognition of "Buy Haywood" products through increased access to marketing materials and working directly with farmers to better market locally grown products.

The Haywood County Soil and Water Conservation District was granted $32,694 toward the purchase of a 30-year term conservation easement on 28 acres of a livestock and crop farm owned by Matthew Swanger of Clyde.

Hyde:

The Hyde County Soil and Water Conservation District received $100,930 to assist with the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 77 acres of cropland owned by J.W. Spencer of Swan Quarter.

Jackson:

The Jackson County Soil and Water Conservation District was awarded $198,000 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 121 acres of farm and forestland in Whittier owned by Billy Gibson of Sylva.

Macon:

The Macon County Soil and Water Conservation District was granted $50,000 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 150 acres of a livestock and crop farm owned by Jim and Sue Waldrup of Franklin.

Madison:

The Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy received $275,000 to assist with the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 355 acres of farm and forestland owned by Betty Reeves of Leicester.

Mitchell:

Mitchell County was awarded $60,326 toward funding site preparation for a school farm on the campus of Mitchell County High School in Bakersville.

Pender:

The Pender County Soil and Water Conservation District was granted $3,500 to help pay for educational meetings and other outreach to landowners on behalf of the county's Voluntary Agricultural District.

Transylvania:

Carolina Mountain Conservancy received $69,000 to assist with the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 21 acres of a livestock farm owned by Dale and Janet Robertson of Brevard.

Warren:

Warren County was awarded $50,000 toward refurbishing a textile mill for a produce processing and distribution facility, the Center for Ag & Value-added Enterprise, that will serve small and mid-sized farmers.

Watauga:

Blue Ridge Conservancy was granted $60,000 toward the purchase of a perpetual conservation easement on 282 acres of a livestock farm and forestland owned by Ray and Virginia Ward of Sugar Grove.

Yadkin:

Piedmont Land Conservancy received $14,000 to aid the development and adoption of a farmland protection plan.

The trust fund also awarded grants to the following organizations for projects of regional impact:

Lee County was awarded $7,500 to work with the Sandhills Farm to Table Cooperative to enact a pilot program that will assist farmers who wish to market produce to institutions under-served by local foods. The pilot program will serve Lee, Moore and Richmond counties.

The N.C. Foundation for Soil and Water Conservation received a grant of $87,000 to assist with creating a 30-year landowner agreement program for the preservation of working farms and forests under the military training route in Beaufort, Bertie, Duplin, Edgecombe, Franklin, Halifax, Harnett, Johnston, Jones, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, Onslow, Pamlico, Sampson and Wake counties.

The trust fund's purpose is to support projects that encourage the preservation of qualifying agricultural, horticultural and forestlands while helping to grow and develop family farms.

receipts from fiscal years 2014 and 2015 are earmarked for improvements such as automated equipment, additional peak-season personnel and computer-programming enhancements.

The vast majority of soil samples analyzed during the winter months are from farms in preparation for spring planting. Most of these samples can be collected and submitted well before Dec. 1, thus avoiding the fee. Nearly all soil samples associated with home and garden and landscaping projects can be collected and submitted from April through November.

Soil samples received during the peak season will be processed in the order received without any guarantees regarding turnaround time.

However, clients can purchase NCDA&CS expedited shippers to receive a guaranteed turnaround time of 10 business days. This year, 525 shippers will be sold. The anticipated 2013-14 price for a 36-sample shipper is $200.

During the peak season, the sample receiving process will change. Sample drop-offs at the Eaddy Building in Raleigh must take place during business hours (6 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday). A locked gate will prevent access after hours and on weekends. This procedure will increase the security of samples and improve client access to Agronomic Division personnel.

By late fall 2013, clients will have the convenience of entering sample and payment (credit card) information online via the PALS website. Cash and checks will be accepted for peak-season samples only if deposited in advance in an escrow account. Payment should never be placed inside shippers.

This year, Dec. 1 falls on a Sunday and is preceded by the Thanksgiving holidays. Wednesday, Nov. 27, will be the last business day of the month for the soil testing lab. Any soil samples arriving after 6 p.m. on Nov. 27 will be subject to the peak-season fee because they will not be logged in and processed until Dec. 2.

Contact the NCDA&CS Agronomic Division office at 919-733-2655 if you have any questions regarding the new peak-season soil-testing fee or the purchase of expedited shippers.
