EECVI Owner/Agent FAQ

Extended Equine Certificate of Veterinary Inspection

The EECVI allows an individual to transport an equine for purposes other than change of ownership. According to most state regulations, in order to transport a horse, mule, donkey, pony, zebra, miniature horse, or other equine across state lines, an interstate certificate of veterinary inspection (ICVI) and negative test for Equine Infectious Anemia (EIA) is required. The ICVI, commonly known as a health certificate, requires that a veterinarian inspect each equine for signs of disease to ensure that it appears healthy for travel.

The EECVI extends the original timeframe of an ICVI from 30 days to six (6) months from the ICVI inspection date or until the expiration of the EIA test, whichever comes first. Prior to each movement, the equine owner or agent must log into the database and obtain a Health Declaration and Movement Permit (HDMP). In order to remain a valid document, the EIA test form and the HDMP must be kept together (official digital copies are acceptable). Listed below are the requirements for an EECVI.

Owner/Agent Checklist

- 🐾 Schedule an appointment for your veterinarian to examine your equine.
Go over the movement process with your veterinarian, including your health declaration.
- 🐾 Provide an origin address where your equine is stabled.
- 🐾 Have a legible copy of a negative EIA test. If the EIA test is not valid for at least six more months, a new EIA test can be drawn, or the system will shorten the expiration date of the EECVI to the date when the EIA test expires.
- 🐾 Be aware of official identification requirements for your destination(s). Not all states accept all forms of official identification.
- 🐾 Keep proof of official identification at all times when not in your state of origin.
- 🐾 When it's time to travel with your horse, log on to obtain a Health Declaration & Movement Permit (HDMP) prior to each interstate movement.
 - Enter the following information: origin, destination, date of movement, purpose of movement.
 - Affirm that the horse has not shown any signs of sickness in the past 7 days or has been cleared by a veterinarian for movement.
 - Download or print the HDMP at no charge.
