<td>There are numerous cracks in the kennel cages and kennel floor that need sealing. The cracks allow for disease and germs to gather.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>#2</td>
<td>The shelter still has inadequate heating and cooling. There are portable heaters, however this is not assisting in regulating the ambient temperature. The method with which the heaters are plugged in throughout the shelter is a concern. The extension cords are lying on the kennel floor and could allow an individual to trip and fall. The cords also allow them to stay wet because of water on the floor. I also observed the heaters while in operation. Diminished the power going to the kennel lights and I observed there was one heater plugged in and at the plug of the extension cord had sparking. (This heater not removed).</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>#3</td>
<td>The inside and outside kennel gates need to be replaced or repaired. There are some gates were the wire protrudes and could allow for a dog to be injured. The top of the kennel cases need to be fastened on the inside of the shelter. If a dog fastens hard enough the dog can get out of the cage.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>#4</td>
<td>The outside kennels have cracks that need to be sealed. There is also wood in between some outside cases that need to be removed. The wood absorbs moisture which can cause disease.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>#14</td>
<td>There needs to be barriers in the cat cages. During my inspection I observed (1) one cat climb up into another cage that housed a cat.</td>

| #17         | There was evidence of a rodent infestation throughout the shelter. There were fresh and old droppings throughout the shelter, there were even rodent droppings inside cabinets. This is certainly a health risk to both staff and animals. While preparing my report, I was called into the kennel area by the staff, while the staff was washing out the kennel, I observed a) mice run into a hole inside the kennel wall.
I have concern these mice may start chewing into the extension cords and this is a safety issue. This needs to be corrected asap.
#20 The isolation cages need to have the chain link nailed down on the top of the inside cages. If there was a dog in isolation or quarantine they could escape.
The door in between the kennels needs to be replaced. Half of the door is torn up.
The county needs to address these issues, to bring the shelter into compliance.
I have a concern about the safety of the staff, and concern for the welfare of the animals. | |
