<td>I performed a complaint investigation at the Warren Co. Ark shelter. Ms. Recky Meyers, a volunteer at the shelter and voiced some concerns at the shelter. Ms. Meyers listed six issues on her complaint. The first issue was the shelter's adoption protocol. I examined the shelter's record keeping and found no problems. The shelter keeps track of every cat and dog that is either adopted or fostered. The second issue addressed Parvo testing on puppies. The shelter does not test for Parvo, but if a dog or puppy shows symptoms of Parvo the animal is euthanized. If a cat is transported to Petco or sent to a cat rescue, the cats are tested for FIV/FELV. The third issue was about parasite control. The shelter does a procedure in place to address their parasite issues. The fourth issue was animal health and cleanliness. The shelter has in place procedures to address cleanliness. I performed an inspection of the animals and kennels and found everything O.K. The fifth issue was about sanitizing. The employees are required to wear rubber gloves and sanitize everything including kennel door handles. This is also in the shelter's SOP. The sixth issue addressed Kittens with UTI. The shelter has a separate room to house feral cats and kittens. While performing my inspection, I observed in-paughtness signs on cages that indicated if a cat or dog is being treated for any contagious or sick animals. These animals were housed in isolation rooms. The shelter does have an isolation for dogs and an isolation room for cats.</td>

1. Cannot

The shelter does have an SAP and is following the procedures. I found nothing that indicated the shelter was not within compliance of the animal welfare rules. The shelter was clean and the animals looked healthy with the exception of 2 dogs being treated and 1 cat. There were treatment sheets on each animal being treated. There was no PAR at the shelter.
